Quick Guide for Citing Resources—MLA Style

MLA format does not consider publication format but instead uses these core elements in a specific order. If a publication/item is missing one of the major elements, skip it without any placeholder.

These major elements should be included in the citation:

1. Author.
2. Title of Source.
3. Title of Container,
4. Other Contributors,
5. Version,
6. Number,
7. Publisher,
8. Publication Date,
9. Location,
10. Pages.

Sometimes elements 3-9 repeat again. An example would be a journal article in a database.

Note the punctuation after each element.

Permalink: Online newspapers, magazines, and database articles sometimes include a “permalink,” which is a shortened, stable version of a URL. Look for a “share” or “cite this” button to see if a source includes a permalink. If you can find a permalink, use that instead of a URL. If there is none, use the url instead.

URL: do not include the http://

DOI: If a source indicates a DOI, include it instead of a url.

doi: 10.1002/tox.20155
